Dear Sir/Madam,

I write to inquire about the provision of halal meat and other halal products in your stores/restaurants.

Can you please confirm whether or not you serve halal meat and if this is labeled as such. If you do provide halal, please confirm the percentages, and if this meat comes from animals are stunned before slaughter. What guarantee do you offer to reassure customers that meat is from animals that are stunned? What checks do you undertake?

Do you agree that the provision of unlabeled halal meat amounts to an infringement upon the religious rights of non-Muslims who may object, on religious grounds, to consuming meat that has received an Islamic blessing prior to slaughter? Do you agree that unlabeled unstunned meat is an infringement upon the right to freedom of conscience of those who object to unstunned meat on animal welfare grounds? How do you intend to address this?

How many of your non-meat products are certified halal and from whom is the certification received? What information do you have on the groups that provide this certification?

I eagerly await your detailed reply.

Yours faithfully,

Your name
